

CHM 150 : CHEMISTRY IN THE REAL WORLD

A laboratory course designed for non-science majors that provides an introduction to current innovations and research in chemistry. Specific topics will be selected by the instructor but could include forensics, medicine, food, environmental issues and nuclear chemistry. Lecture and laboratory format. Lab Fee. Offered alternate Fall Terms.

4.000

Chemistry

GEF Natural Science (laboratory). Not accepted for major or minor credit.