

ECN 321 : MONEY AND FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS

This course examines the role of money and of monetary and financial institutions on the aggregate economy. There is an emphasis on the history, structure, and function of the banking system. The tools of monetary policy and how monetary policy impacts the aggregate economy are also discussed.

3.000

Economics

ECN 202

Major, Minor, Elective credit.