

ENG 220 : DIGITAL JOURNALISM

This course will introduce students to digital (i.e., online) journalism. The class will cover newswriting, editing, website content management, photography, videography, advertising, ethics and libel. Students will create a digital newspaper and participate in every aspect of newspaper production. This will not count as a writing elective but as a major or minor English elective.

3.000

ENG 101 or permission of the instructor.

English

Major, minor, Elective credit.