

PSY 199H : FRESHMAN HONORS SEMINAR

A study of a selected subject within the discipline which will vary from term to term. The course is intended to encourage student participation in the intellectual process through class discussion, structured experiences, and the writing of short papers. Offered periodically in rotation with seminars in other disciplines.

3.000

Psychology

GEP credit.