

PHI 100 : INTRODUCTION TO LOGIC

A study of the fundamental principles of correct reasoning directed toward improving reading, writing, speaking, listening and thinking. Students learn to recognize, analyze, evaluate, construct and refute arguments. Attention is given to both informal modes of reasoning as well as the basics of formal and symbolic systems. Quantitative GEP requirement.

3.000

Philosophy

GEP, Major, Minor, Elective credit.