

MTH 330: INTRODUCTION TO NUMERICAL ANALYSIS

This is a first course in numerical analysis. Topics include numerical techniques for solving equations and problems in calculus, understanding error, and computer solutions. Students will be required to complete coding assignments as part of the course.

Credits: 3

Prerequisites:

MTH 210 and CSC 201, or permission of the instructor.

Program: Mathematics