

SPN 314: SPECIAL TOPICS IN HISPANIC STUDIES

This interdisciplinary seminar explores a special topic in the language, culture, and literature of Spain and the Latino Americas. Particular emphasis is placed on the transnational and multicultural contexts of Hispanic cultural studies. Topics may include transatlantic/border studies, gender studies, sexuality, mass media, and colonialism. This seminar may be repeated as long as the course topic is different. Depending on content, it may also be considered Non-European/non-Anglophone.

Credits: 3

Prerequisites:

SPN 202

Prerequisite SPN 202 or approval of coordinator.

Program: Hispanic Studies